JURY QUESTIONNAIRE

General Instructions:

This questionnaire is designed to obtain information about your background as it is related to your service as a juror in this case. Its use will substantially shorten the jury selection process. The purpose of these questions is to determine whether prospective jurors can impartially decide this case based upon the evidence presented at trial and the instructions on the law given by the presiding judge. The questions are not intended to unnecessarily inquire into personal matters. All information contained in this questionnaire will be kept confidential and under seal.

You are sworn to give true and complete answers and those answers will be available only to the court and the parties in this case. The questionnaires belong to the court and all copies will be returned to the court. You are instructed not to discuss this case or the questionnaire with anyone, including your family and fellow jurors and members of the media.

Although some of the questions may appear to be of a personal nature, please understand that the Court and the parties must learn enough information about each juror's background and experiences to select a fair and impartial jury. Your cooperation is of vital importance. Please answer each question as fully and completely as possible. Your complete candor and honesty is necessary so that both the prosecution and the defense will have a meaningful opportunity to select an impartial jury.

You must answer all the questions, to the best of your ability. If you do not know the answer to a question then write, "I don't know." It is important that the answers be yours alone. If you need more space for your responses or wish to make further comments regarding any of your answers, please use the Explanation Sheet at the end of the questionnaire. Put the number of the question you are answering on the Explanation Sheet before you write the response or comment.

Please keep in mind that there are no "right" or "wrong" answers, only complete and incomplete answers. Complete answers are far more helpful than incomplete answers. Remember, you are sworn to give true and complete answers to all questions. Unless the question states otherwise, the fact that a particular question is asked does not imply that the subject matter of the question is an issue in this case. As you read the questions, you are not to draw any inferences about the issues which must be decided in this case. Please fill out the entire questionnaire. Do not leave any questions blank. If a question does not apply to you in any way, write "N/A" rather than leaving the form blank. Do not write on the back of any page. PLEASE PRINT OR WRITE LEGIBLY. You must sign the affirmation page.

Contact, Knowledge and Awareness and Opinion of the Case

This case concerns the trial of a single defendant, Zacarias Moussaoui. Mr. Moussaoui is a 37 year old French citizen of Moroccan descent who was arrested on August 16, 2001, more than three weeks before the attacks on September 11, 2001. In December 2001, the defendant was charged in an indictment with 6 separate, but related, conspiracy offenses: (1) a conspiracy to commit acts of terrorism, (2) a conspiracy to commit aircraft piracy, (3) a conspiracy to destroy aircraft, (4) a conspiracy to use weapons of mass destruction, (5) a conspiracy to murder United States employees and (6) a conspiracy to destroy property. Each of the charges relate to the hijacking of four commercial aircraft on September 11, 2001, and the destruction of the World Trade Center in New York, and the Pentagon in Alexandria, Virginia. On April 22, 2005, Mr. Moussaoui entered a plea of guilty to all six counts in the indictment, but he has denied any knowledge of or involvement in the specific conspiracies that perpetrated the attacks on September 11, 2001. The investigation, indictment and subsequent legal proceedings have received extensive media coverage.

There is nothing wrong or improper for a prospective juror to have followed a case in the media or to have discussed a case prior to receiving a subpoena to appear for jury service in that case. However, at this stage of the trial it is incumbent upon the Court and the attorneys both for the Government and the Defendant to determine the extent to which any prospective juror has been exposed to media coverage or discussion of the case and to determine the effect and influence of the media coverage or any conversations or opinions a prospective juror has heard, overheard or expressed in order to make a determination as to whether the prospective juror is qualified to sit as an actual juror or alternate juror in the trial.

The purpose of the following set of questions is to learn the extent to which each prospective juror has been exposed to media coverage, conversations and discussions or opinions expressed about the defendant, Mr. Moussaoui, and any and all aspects of the case including the charges and possible penalty, the investigation, the attorneys, the potential witnesses and any other aspects of the legal proceedings surrounding this case. Again, please keep in mind that there are no “right” or “wrong” answers, only complete and incomplete answers. Complete answers are far more helpful than incomplete answers. Also, please remember you are sworn to give true and complete answers to all questions.

230. First, do you know, or have you had any contact whatsoever, with Mr. Moussaoui?
Yes _____ No _____

If yes, please explain. _____

Consideration of the death penalty.

In a case such as this, where the jurors may have to consider death as a possible punishment, it is important that we know your thoughts and opinions regarding the death penalty.

The first phase of the trial will deal only with an initial question concerning whether or not Mr. Moussaoui's actions meet part of the threshold requirements to make him eligible for the selection process. For Mr. Moussaoui to be found eligible for the death penalty, the jury would first have to find that (1) the defendant had the requisite state of mind when he engaged in the crime, and (2) that his actions directly resulted in the deaths of the victims. If the jury were to find that Mr. Moussaoui's actions met this criteria, the second phase of the trial would involve the presentation of additional evidence and the jury's consideration of aggravating and mitigating factors, and the question of whether Mr. Moussaoui should be sentenced either to life imprisonment without the possibility of release or to death.

Aggravating factors are facts about the defendant or the crime which the Government believes favor imposition of the death penalty. Aggravating factors are of two types - statutory reasons that are set forth in the death penalty statute - and non-statutory - other reasons which are drafted by the Government. Mitigating factors are facts about the circumstances of the crime or the defendant's role in it, or about his background or character, which the defense believes favor imposition of a sentence of life imprisonment without possibility of release.

Before the jury could vote to impose the death penalty, each juror would have to be persuaded beyond a reasonable doubt (1) that the defendant had the requisite state of mind when he engaged in the crime, (2) that his actions directly resulted in the deaths of the victims, and (3) that one or more of the specific statutory aggravating factors existed. Only if the jury found all of those circumstances could it consider imposing a sentence of death. If the defendant were found eligible for the death penalty, in determining the appropriate punishment, each juror would have to consider the aggravating factors which had been proven beyond a reasonable doubt, and any mitigating factors that the juror believed to exist, before making a determination as to the appropriate punishment.

This is only an overview of the law applicable to a jury's consideration of the death penalty. The jury will receive more detailed instructions from the Court during the course of the proceedings.

In any case in which the charge carries the possibility of the death penalty, the law requires that prospective jurors answer questions regarding their thoughts, feelings, and opinions on the death penalty. The death penalty is an issue on which the many thoughtful people disagree. The purpose of these questions is to ensure that both the government and the defendant are given the opportunity to present evidence to an unbiased a jury as possible. To that end, please answer these questions fully and truthfully.

With these thoughts in mind, please answer the following questions:

249. In general, how do you feel about the use of the death penalty as a punishment for certain types of murder?
